

April 20.

Wonderful Run of Fish.

Fishermen familiar with Long Island Sound fishing say that the run of flounders over there is something wonderful in all the waters from Astoria east. James Morton of Jersey City, and Charles Neeman of Bergen street, fished at City Island one day last week, and between them they caught 219 flounders that showed a total weight of 165 pounds. They had to keep four lines moving all the time to do this, and when they came ashore they sold their catch for 6 cents a pound.

Flounder Season Over.

Advices from Provincetown, Mass., say that in three days' fishing about 500 barrels of flounders were landed at Hyannis and shipped to New York markets. The season is about over. Prices are very low, and the boats are soon to leave for home ports to get ready for mackerel seining off the New Jersey coast. Skippers of the Provincetown fleet went home by rail last week. The winter season has been so severe that the business has not been as successful as in previous winters.

Pensacola Fish Notes.

While receipts of fish at Pensacola for last week were not as heavy as that of the previous week, the large average week's catch was still maintained. Nine smacks made port, bringing in a total of 207,000 pounds of fish; 141,000 pounds of red snapper and 66,000 pounds of grouper. There were six smacks for the E. E. Saunders Co., and three for the Warren Fish Co. The Saunders smacks brought in 112,500 pounds of red snapper and 56,000 pounds of grouper, while the Warren smacks had 28,500 pounds of red snapper and 10,000 pounds of grouper. The big smack, Mary E. Cooney, which has made two records already for immense catches, was not among the arrivals last week, but may be in this week with another big catch.

Halibut Sales.

The halibut fare of sch. John Hays Hammond sold to the New England halibut company this forenoon at 10 cents a pound for white and seven cents a pound for gray. The fare of sch. Corona sold to the same firm Thursday for the same figures.

April 22.

LANDED FISH LAST WEDNESDAY.

SCH. ARTHUR JAMES HAD 300
MACKEREL AT LEWES SAME DAY AS CLINTONIA.

A letter received from Capt. Archibald Devine, of sch. Arthur James states that the craft landed between 250 and 300 mackerel at Lewes, Delaware, last Wednesday, the same date that sch. Clintonia, Capt. Ralph Weber arrived.

Just where Capt. Devine struck his fish, the latter did not say, although it is likely that the Arthur James and Clintonia were in the same locality, as both struck a small school about the same time.

A letter from the Times' correspondent at Old Point Comfort, Virginia, states that sch. Constellation, Capt. Thaddeus Morgan, has completed repairs to her damage sustained in a recent heavy blow, and sailed Thursday. The weather off the Virginia coast at that time was ideal.

April 22.

Fresh Mackerel Catch.

The total fresh mackerel receipts from the south last week comprised about 25 barrels. The fish averaged about three pounds each, and aside from those taken by the schs. Clintonia and Sylvia were caught mostly in the traps.

Fishing Fleet Movements.

Schs. Gladys and Nellie, Stiletto and Ella G. King arrived at Liverpool, N. S., Saturday last. The latter vessel was from Rose Blanche, N. F., bound to this port.

April 22.

FLEET.

The arrivals at this port this morning consist of sch. Rhodora, Capt. Augustus Peterson from Quero with 20,000 pounds of halibut which found a ready sale, the American Halibut Company taking the fish at 10 cents a pound for white and 7½ cents a pound for gray.

Only a few of the gill netters got underway Saturday and the total catch of the fleet was rising of 35,000 weight. Yesterday, all of them but one took advantage of the fine weather and brought in about 80,000 weight, all of which were shipped fresh to Boston.

Two of the pollock seiners struck small hauls of herring and ran them in fresh.

Yesterday sch. Shenandoah, Capt. James Gannon arrived from a pollock seining trip, having 30,000 pounds of pollock and 30 barrels of large fresh herring. The fish were taken off Thacher's in the vicinity where steamers Dorcas and Jeffery made small hauls Sunday evening.

Of the off shore fleet, sch. Squanto has the largest fare, her haul being for 85,000 pounds, chiefly haddock and cod. The new sch. Mary F. Sears has about 50,000 weight, sch. Josephine DeCosta 38,000 pounds, sch. Matchless, 45,000 pounds, and sch. Sadie M. Nunan, 30,000 pounds.

Newfoundland Fishing Notes.

While the shoremen have been having lean weeks, the bankers have done well and good fares are reported. Only two schooners have sailed from Grand Bank and one, the Grace Tibbo, was wrecked at Rose Blanche, recently. She had 750 qtls. on board at the time. The Tibbo now lies in 27 feet of water but there is little hope of her being saved. Her captain and his crew of five have gone to Gloucester to buy a new vessel. The other banker, the Portia, was reported last at Rose Blanche with 400 qtls. There are 13 schooners at Harbor Breton, five at St. Jacques and 20 at Grand Bank, all looking for bait, not knowing which way to turn for it. Capt. John Lewis, reporting from Rose Blanche with 500 qtls., found fish plentiful and has more than the average. Capt. J. Bonia, in the Gloucester vessel Fanny A. Smith has 200 quintals.

Portland Fish Notes.

The Portland Argus marine correspondent says:

Capt. Gus Hall of the Boston fishing schooner Thomas A. Cromwell is a hustler. He was here about three weeks ago with a trip of halibut, after landing which he went to Gloucester to refit, taking on his topmasts, and then starting for the Banks off Sable Island. He was back again Sunday with another fare, having been absent only a fortnight on the cruise, bringing 25,000 pounds of halibut, in addition to the 10,000 pounds of salt cod. The schooners Kineo and Agnes, which were here on Friday with halibut, sold their fares on Saturday to the J. W. Trefethen Co. at seven and 10 cents.

Salt Fish Slow.

The situation in salt fish has been noticeable only for its lethargy, says the Fishing Gazette. Cod has been steady, with a moderate demand from the jobbers, but there has been little change, if any, in quotations. With the exception of Norways, in the large sizes, mackerel was easy, but trade was confined within narrow limits. Herring of any kind, imported or domestic, has been ignored by buyers, though nominally the scarcity of domestics gave them a firmer tone.

April 23.

SITUATION IN SALT MACKEREL.

There was little buying of salt mackerel last week, says the Fishing Gazette. Sales were confined in most cases to the filling of actual needs, but prices were not weakened, though the tendency was rather to favor the buyer.

The market in imported salt mackerel was consistently firm throughout the week. Reports that the new crop was beginning to appear gave a life to inquiry that kept dealers interested, but there was little movement of stocks. Norway fish in the larger sizes was well controlled, and quotations tended to uphold the market on No. 3. No 4 was somewhat lower, but there were no inducements to buy thrust forward. The Irish fall pack was well held up, and Hollanders were steady if dull. Cape Breton bloaters seemed to have been cleaned up, but Halifax pack was offered on advantageous terms.

FISH ARE WILD.

Steamers Report Lots of Pollock and Herring Now Off Thacher's Island.

Steamers Dorcas and Jeffery secured small hauls of fresh herring about 20 miles south east of Thacher's Sunday evening which were brought in here yesterday.

The Dorcas took 12 barrels and the Jeffery six barrels. Capt. Joseph Graham of the Dorcas reports the water alive with fish, but they were wild and hard to set around. Pollock was also schooling, but they were very timid.

The herring were all large and of the very best quality of spring fish.

Fulton Market Notes.

Stock of all kinds was so plentiful in the market last week that large quantities of some varieties had to go to the head dock, says the Fishing Gazette. There was absolutely no sale for it no matter how low the price. One of the varieties on which probably no returns will be made in some cases is kingfish. The market was glutted with it during the entire week.

Haddock brought 1 1-2 to 3 cents, with the exception of Monday, when 5 cents was the quotation.

Hake was quoted at 2 1-2 to 3 cents from Monday on. The price on Saturday was 6 cents.

Spanish mackerel was plentiful during the latter part of the week, sales being made on Friday as low as 11 cents. On Saturday week, the price was 16 to 18 cents.

Pollock sold at 3 to 4 cents. The price last Saturday was 6 cents.

Up to Friday 21 of the smacks which will take blues and weaks sailed from Fulton Market. They were: Emily P. Wright, Edwin H. Redmond, Bertha L. Barker, Latona, Edith M. Prior, Florence E. Stream, Ethel Mildred, Nourmahal, Mascot, Faustina, Leila B. Fernald, Ester Anita, General Grant, Emma and Helen, Columbia, Lewis and Rosie, Norseman, Lottie S. Morton, Roulette, William A. Oakes and A. S. Caswell.

The following vessels were at the market, Friday, getting in shape for sailing: Kentucky, Benjamin M. Wallace, William T. Dodge, Flora L. Nickerson and William A. Graber.

The supply of mackerel was not very heavy, still prices were low. A few were sold last Saturday and Monday at $1 each. Tuesday the quotation was 90 cents, and the fish sold very slow at that figure. Wednesday the quotation was 60 cents and Thursday 55 to 60 cents. Friday the price was 60 cents. The bulk of the fish came to Chesebro Brothers, George T. Moon Co., and Wilson & Barry. The fish to the last named were from Lewes, Del., shipped by the Clintonia, Capt. Ralph Webber.

Pensacola Fish News.

Very few fishing smacks arrived at Pensacola last week. For the E. E. Saunders Co., the Emily Cooney brought 32,000 lbs. of red snappers, 8000 lbs. of groupers; the Cecanett 22,000 lbs. groupers; the Carrie B. Wells, 6000 lbs. red snappers, 5000 lbs. groupers.

Newfoundland Bankers Did Well.

Recent reports from the Newfoundland south west coast fishery are said to be very favorable. The bankers have done exceedingly well, having all made one trip to the fishing grounds, and are now prepared for the second voyage. As usual there is a scarcity of bait, and the ships are forced to sail without the necessities.

April 23.

FISHERMEN ARE PLEASED.

NEW LANES OF STEAMER TRAVEL GO PRETTY WELL CLEAR OF FISHING GROUND.

By an order issued by the branch of United States Hydrographic office, and accepted by the big steamship lines, the lanes of Atlantic liners are moved 180 miles south from that which was being pursued by the Titanic a week ago Sunday night, when she smashed into an ice berg and went to the bottom, and will pretty well clear the fishing grounds.

The order means that all steamers except those west bound will pass clear of the southern end of Georges, which will be hailed with much pleasure by skippers of fishing crafts from this port, for ever since the day of the big liners, vessels fishing in that vicinity have been continually menaced by the danger of collision of these monsters, and many fishing crafts have been sunk by the big steamers.

The course of the west bound liners will continue to cut a small part of the southern edge of Georges.

Many narrow escapes have occurred from vessels being run down in the fog and sent to bottom with all hands on board, as most everyone here knows and for years there has been an agitation and hope that the route of the liners would be shifted to the southward.

According to the understanding which has been reached, the British and continental lines have agreed to the following lines of travel:

The west bound track to follow Great Grand Circle to latitude 39 degrees North, longitude 45 degrees West; then along the 39th parallel to 50 degrees West; then to Nantucket lightship, then to Ambrose lightship.

The eastbound track from Ambrose lightship to latitude 40 degrees North, longitude 70 degrees West; then to latitude 38 degrees, 20 minutes North and longitude 50 degrees West; then along the parallel of 38 degrees, 20 minutes to 45 degrees West; then the Great Circle to Bishop's Rock. The Mediterranean boats to follow same tracks when westward of the 45th meridian of west longitude.

April 23.

A Fine Start.

Sch. John Hays Hammond, Capt. Lemuel E. Spinney, stocked $3050 as the result of her recent halibut and shacking trip, the crew's share being $72.40 to a man.

This is Capt. Spinney's first trip this season, since resuming command of the Hammond and as usual he is among the high liners for big trips and stocks.

Fishing Fleet Movements.

Sch. Harry A. Nickerson, Capt. William Clarke, was at Lockport, N. S., recently.

April 23.

Here to Fit for Seining.

Capt. James McLean has arrived to take command of sch. Diana mackerel seining.

April 24.

Seized Cargo of Fish.

Says the Fishing Gazette editorially: "A Government inspector of fish seized the cargo of a steamer on the B. C. & A. Line, upon arrival at Baltimore recently, and the cargo was confiscated and destroyed, being in bad condition. It belonged to poor fishermen, who had also lost their nets by storms, and it practically put them out of business. It was learned afterwards that a large part of the cargo was fresh fish, which was destroyed by the inspector without investigation. We think something should be done to prevent a similar recurrence of such an act. Possibly a suit to recover damages would make the official more careful in future."

April 24.

ONE TRIP FROM TREATY COAST.

SCH. ELLA G. KING IS HOME WITH 150,000 POUNDS SALT COD.

Lillian from the Maine coast with a cargo of salt clams. The receipts of the gill netters yesterday was about 35,000 pounds.
